CHILDREN'S DANCE THEATER TO PRESENT PINOCCHIO

The Children's Dance Theater, under the direction of Susan Farrar, will be presenting next week, three performances of Pinocchio. Matinees at 4 p. m. will be held Thursday and Friday, June 5 and 6, and an evening performance on Saturday, June 7, at 7:30 at the Telstar Auditorium.

The story of Pinocchio, the little wooden puppet who was changed into a real live boy by the Blue Fairy, follows the theme of the familiar children's fairytale, with Jiminy Cricket, the toymaker Geppetto, and all of Pinocchio's school friends plus many added toys and dolls dancing their way through the entire performance.

Pinocchio starts for school, but he is soon led astray by some "tough kids" and persuaded to skip classes in favor of a puppet show, where he is laughed at and booed by the others when he tries to dance.

The children's visit to Pleasure Island, the "land of all play and no work", the ocean scene when Geppetto, Jiminy and Pinocchio are swallowed by Monstro the Whale, and the final celebration—all promise a great afternoon or evening of entertainment.

John Tebbets has been a patient this week at Rumford Community Hospital.

Greenwood City — Newry

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

The night was dark and still. No sound came from the trees near by until about four o'clock when May's festival of birds' songs began. These woodland minstrels were tuning their lyres and were led by the woodthrush? Its tones are solemn and serene. They harmonize with the whispering breeze, the falling of raindrops, the purring of water, the sounds of the forest. A-olee, he sings and rests; then unhurried, pours out a series of intermittent strains; rich metallic, powerful, with the vanishing tones of a bell. The song is so pure and ethereal as it rises and falls; it swells and dies away, that it just can not be imitated or described. Only the hermit thrush can compare with it.

He kept his place for some minutes then retired to the forest but only for moments when he came again to the rock not far from my window and I was thankful that I could be there to hear.

The Baltimore oriole arrived this week also. That is always an event to be welcomed with joy. Ever in New England this beautiful, elegantly formed bird is associated with blooming apple orchards and cherry blossoms. He has spent much time in mine, sending forth his clear short whistle and wild rounded notes.

Dandelions and violets are in bloom, the streams prattle over their stony beds, and the wonderful old earth responds as ever to the warmth, and clothes herself in beauty. Oh, the green! So lush, so fresh, so new, so lovely!

The bob-o-links are in the farm fields and I MUST visit them this coming week.

It is the summer season of leaves and grass, ever changing. All day long there are a thousand things to do. Weeds and pests to fight, gardens to tend, for the bright sunshine and warmth must be made every use of while it lasts.

I have looked longingly at the pond and waited to ask my doctor if I could row my boat. This week his answer was, "Yes, within reason. Do anything you want to do."

So I went for a very short row one day then waited several days before I tried again. My discovery? I can't do anything that I want to do.

While out I viewed the fringing trees reflected in the water along the mirrored shores with the blue-green pines among the sweep of mountains.

The graceful ferns and the shifting lights of the woodlands intermingled, weaving splendid tapestries on the emerald curve of the shore; sometimes swaying against the sky.

I saw the bittern and heard his "Thunder-pump." I saw two black ducks and fished a little.

The red-wings accompanied me for I drifted by the shore; no long free swing strokes today.

As I anchored I looked toward the Sanborn River and thought, "Some day..."

Above in the ash tree sat the oriole calling, "Here, here, I'm here!"

And I answered, "I am, too, so we are both happy." and left him still calling.

We were happy to see the bookmobile on Wednesday with new reading materials.

The John Betts family was here at their home over the holiday week end.

Fay Holt has been to Portland and Lewiston this week.

Week end visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt's were Sharon Jordan, Orono; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt and Danny, Windsor; Ann Holt, Bethel.

The Pulsifers are at their cottage for the summer. Their cottage is enjoyed by many as it sends its music from their lawn where it sits. Last evening at about eight we heard them "Roll Out the Barrel!" and it was "a barrel of fun" as the music floated through the air.

Dorothy Curtis was in Lewiston this week to call on Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Bentley who are recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Curtis and family, Chesterville, were callers in town on Sunday.

On the Job With Emily

Week of May 19-23

While members of the Maine Legislature were not in session during the holiday week end, they will make up for the day lost by holding sessions on Saturday, May 31. The past week was hectic, with some of the "big" bills coming on to the floor.

The House passed the bill increasing the minimum wage in Maine to $2.30 per hour effective 90 days after adjournment. The House had originally favored a $2.50 minimum wage but the Senate held firm at $2.30.

The "Bottle Bill", a measure to ban non-returnable beverage containers, passed the Maine House last week. The version passed included a provision for referendum, and the Legislature was criticized by some for passing the buck to the voters instead of taking a firm stand themselves. Emily spoke in favor of the bill, but was unhappy with the referendum aspect. Apparently, Rep. McKernan, the sponsor felt that the bill had no chance in the Senate without the referendum provision.

The over-riding of vetoes occupied the Legislature on several occasions last week. The Legislature overrode the Governor's veto of a bill that would allow the Governor and Executive Council to handle minor claims against the State. A number of bills have come before the Legislature this year on such matters as damage by wild animals, considered responsibility of the State. The cost of processing such legislation is frequently in excess of the amount of the claim. The House overrode the veto 116-25, and the Senate 24-8. Later in the week, the House overrode, 127-15, the Governor's veto of a bill that requires that a person who wishes to become a candidate for nomination by primary election may not have changed party enrollment within the three month period prior to the April 1 filing date.

There is legislation in the works which would increase the motor fuel tax by one cent per gallon, in order to continue funding town road improvement and snow removal programs, which were inadequately provided for by Governor Longley in his budget. The Bethel Town Manager, Elwyn Dickey, contacted Emily last week to ask her support for this plan. She was able to assure him that she does intend to support it.

Emily and members of the Oxford County delegation met with Governor Longley for coffee on May 22. One topic discussed was the proposed Rumford airport facility to be developed in Dixfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pinkham of Pelham, N. H., and his mother, Mrs. Laura Pinkham, were Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stearns. Mrs. Janice Morrell and Dee Dee of Lewiston were Sunday dinner guests there.

The week's callers of Mr. and fiancée, House page Valerie Caton. In true legislative fashion, they will be married on the Fourth of July.

Bad news for shoppers in Portland and Lewiston; the bill to eliminate pay toilets has been defeated in the Senate, after passing in the House.

Correction: In the third paragraph of last week's column, there is a typographical error. It should read: "The bill would allow food CONSUMED by the residents of the producing farm to be included in the $1,000 minimum produce evaluation."

30 Seconds WITH THE NAZARENE

Rev. Barbara Huse, Pastor
Bethel Church of the Nazarene

Psalms 123:23-24: "Search me, O God, and know my heart: try me, and know my thoughts: and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting." This is a beautiful prayer from the Bible. I would like to make it my prayer today and every day.

How true it is we can not play hide and seek with God. Man has been trying to do this ever since Adam and Eve made their home in the Garden of Eden.

Man may think he can wipe God out of the picture by saying he does not believe in a God anyway. You may think God is unreal, the Bible full of myths and fairy tales but who are you and who am I? Man has never yet come up with a better answer. When you find something that works why not work it.

The little boy was asked by a friend, "Is your father a Christian?" He answered very honestly, "Yes, but he is not working at it." It is true the world needs to see some "Sermons in Shoes." Edgar A. Guest said it this way, "I'd rather see a sermon that hear one any day...." It does no good to preach sermons unless we live them. I am sure you agree to that. Your life and mine is bringing some kind of a message to people everyday!

Friend, I want to keep it clean. God help us. We have clean-up months to do spring cleaning around our homes inside and outside. God help us to keep our lives clean!

Letters to the Editor

26 May

Dear Editor:

I am sure that most people are by now aware of the resignation of Glen I. Bangs from his teaching position in MSAD #44, though I am equally sure that many are not aware of the conditions that led to such a decision. As a former student of Telstar R. H. S. and a person interested in education, I was disturbed by his resignation and it bothered me that he felt he had to. I consider Glen Bangs one of the finest teachers I have ever known. Now, as his last year in MSAD #44 is drawing to an end, I want to publicly express my gratitude and appreciation to Glen for his contributions within the district.

During a period of seven years, he built, virtually from ground up, a coordinated, district-wide music program—a successful program that has brought honor and recognition to the district. Against several odds, he has managed to expand the program with excellent results. In everything he has done, he has had the best interests of his students in mind. The students, the community, and the school district have benefited from his hard work. He is highly able and dedicated, and he will be sorely missed.

So, for being the way he is, for services above and beyond the call of any contract, for just being there when he is needed—for all of these things and more, thanks and appreciation are warmly expressed. And also, a personal thanks. Wherever you are, and whatever you are doing, the best of everything always, for you are certainly worthy of it.

Sincerely,
Randal J. Littlefield

TELSTAR'S Physics Class has just finished part of its program called GROUP CONTRACTS. This allows the students to work in pairs in the unit covered. Part of the requirement is a major project. Above you see Susan Mackay and Kathy Richardson beside their project. It is powered by a Photo Cell. The photoelectric effect has been studied to show that light has particle properties as well as those of waves. Is LIGHT a wave or a particle? Who knows!

a movie for people who haven't thought much of movies lately.

Maybe you've been waiting for a movie that you can take your family to see, without leaving a little uneasy hallway through... Perhaps I made a mistake...

Maybe you've been waiting for a movie that offers entertainment... and a little more. A movie that offers some answers to the questions faced by the contemporary American family.

TIME TO RUN is that movie.

You'll walk out of TIME TO RUN with a little bit more. You'll walk out feeling that the money you spent for tickets was invested... not wasted.

TIME TO RUN is an experience to be shared... with someone you love. Because somehow... it could be everyone's story.

OLD GLORY
Old Glory flies above us
To keep us free from fears
Let's honor and protect her
Throughout the coming years.

For all, it stands for freedom
With the Golden Rule observed;
For we must think of others,
Human rights should be preserved.

Selfishness, there is no place
In this great land of ours.
Good homes, fair play, equal rights;

Have kept us long in power.
U. S. is the place to live,
Our forefathers made it so.
Let's keep the faith, have courage
To help it better grow.

RECORD IN CONFERENCE

Telstar's Rebels defeated Messalonskee of Oakland 5-2 last Friday in its final MVC baseball game of the season. The Rebels, with a 9-2 league record, 14-2 overall, now will face the winner of the East-West Conference in a Class "C" playoff. They win that right because they have the best record of any "C" club in the Mountain Valley Conference.

Telstar came up with all five of its runs against Messalonskee starter Bill Fullen in the second inning. A walk and three consecutive Eagle errors produced one run. Chris Olson then walked, forcing Duffy Ellsworth singled for one more. Levi Brown followed with a two-run single, ending the scoring. Messalonskee scored both its runs off Ellsworth in the fourth inning on a single by Meader.
